Collaborations that Change the World
(and our backyard!)

Creating the space for nonprofit organizations, businesses, government, funders and universities to join forces to address looming social issues just makes sense! Learn how your organization can construct cross-sector collaborations that can change the world — and even your own backyard!

Meet SNA members and their professor, Alice Del Vecchio, and discover how SRU's nonprofit students might serve your organization this year.

Share your experiences in and passion for the nonprofit sector with students. Display materials about your organization and network with other nonprofit professionals. And, enjoy homemade desserts and other sweet treats!

Please RSVP by November 1 for this free event at Eventbrite.com
